

delish

16 Regional Fast-Food Chains You Need To Know About

If you haven't had Bojangles', you haven't lived.

by HANNAH DOOLIN JAN 17, 2018

718

COURTESY OF PDQ

PDQ

Location: Florida, North Carolina, Texas, plus various other locations

A tiny neighborhood restaurant in North Carolina called Tenders transformed into this drooled-over establishment, which has since set up shop throughout Florida and Texas. Made-from-scratch chicken tenders are the name of the game here, and you can watch the breading and cooking for yourself, thanks to the open-format kitchens. If tenders aren't your thing, may we suggest a honey butter chicken sandwich with a side of crispy, golden zucchini fries?